august 2006

A A R H U S U N I V E R S I T E T

WELCOME

We are proud to present the programme for Denmark Today in August 2006. The purpose of the course is to help students make the best of their stay in Aarhus by providing them with intensive Danish language training as well as an introduction to Danish culture and society.

The programme design allows students plenty of opportunities to get to know each other and the beautiful city of Aarhus. We hope that you will make the most of your stay here and participate in many of the numerous activities the university and the city have to offer. It is only with the effort and initiative of motivated and excellent students like yourself that Denmark Today becomes a success every year.

We look forward to welcoming you to Aarhus in August!

Kaja Nørgaard Bertelsen,
Assistant Director

INTRODUCTION

Denmark Today is an intensive introductory programme consisting of language and culture courses, social activities and practical guidance. The course is offered to international students and employees at the University of Aarhus and co-operating institutions in the Århus area.

The course consists of two equally important parts:

Language Training

Please find detailed description on the following page.

Cultural Programme

The afternoon programme consists of a wide variety of cultural events including lectures, excursions and social activities. Students will be divided into three groups (A, B and C) for some of these activities.

This leaflet contains a detailed introduction to each activity and a course calendar on the first page of the programme.

ATTENDANCE

Please note that attendance is mandatory and you are expected to be present on the first day. This is important for several reasons:

- On the first day you will receive a lot of important and practical information about the course.

- The language teachers will test your knowledge of Danish on the first day. Your oral and writing skills, will be tested to ensure that you join a group matching your language skills.

All activities are mandatory except those indicated with a '●' symbol.

COURSE CERTIFICATE

A course certificate will be issued to students who have participated in at least 80 % of the Denmark Today programme, meaning 80 % of the language training and 80 % of the cultural events.

CREDITS

All students who receive a course certificate (see above) will receive 6.5 ECTS credits. Students need to check with their home institutions if the credits are transferable to their programme of study.

language training

WED 2 – FRI 25 AUGUST 2006
9:00 – 12:00

Aim

The aim of the language course is to provide students who have little or no prior knowledge of Danish with sufficient language skills to communicate with fellow students and University staff and to cope with everyday life here in Denmark. The course will not prepare participants to take part in academic discussions or to pursue university-level studies entirely in Danish, but will provide them with a solid foundation to continue their practical and theoretical studies of the Danish language.

Upper level courses are also available for advanced students who would like to improve their existing Danish language skills.

Teaching Methods

Students are assigned to groups of approximately 15 students according to their language proficiency level, as determined by an assessment test. The test will be administered on the first day of the course in order to assign students to a class that best suits their current level of Danish.

Danish is the primary language of instruction at all levels, but English will be used occasionally as needed. The course focuses on both written and spoken Danish, through written and oral exercises as well as through presentations, movies, role playing and songs. Students are expected each day to do one to two hours of homework in addition to time spent in class.

Evaluation

Students will have the possibility to sit for a written examination, in order to receive an assessment for consideration by their home university. This written assessment is NOT MANDATORY, but will be administered upon request.

RESIDENCE PERMITS

(for EU citizens only)

We have divided you into two groups in order to avoid too much waiting time:

13.00-14.00 Group A and B

14.00-15.00 Group C

This is an opportunity for EU citizens to apply for their residence permit. The residence permit is an important document that will allow you to get your CPR number, which you will need to visit the doctor, borrow library books, and so on. It is very important to take care of your residence permit application this afternoon. We have arranged for the County of Aarhus to be available at the University so that you may hand in your application directly to them.

Please fill out the yellow form, which was included in the welcome package you received with your admission letter. Be sure to bring all the personal documents you need to hand in with the residence permit application (see student guide for details).

DANISH FILM NIGHT: ADAM'S APPLES

The film by Anders Thomas Jensen is a black comedy from 2005. Adam is a neo-Nazi, who is sent on community service at the priest Ivan's church. Ivan gives Adam the task of baking a pie with apples from the tree in front of the church. Meanwhile birds, worms and lightning are attacking the apples. Ivan believes it is the Devil, who is testing them, but Adam believes it is God, because maybe evil does not even exist.

THE DANES AND THEIR RELIGION

BY MARIE VEJRUP NIELSEN

Why does Denmark have a constitutional state religion, supported by taxes? Today you will get the opportunity to learn about the religious life of the Danes. Together we will take a look at the Cathedral in Århus and hear a little about what takes place in the Danish people's church, the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Denmark, which is the official state religion in Denmark. Afterwards there will be a short presentation of the church of Denmark focusing on the most current topics of discussion. We will, among other things, talk about church and state, church and nationality in view of globalization and the EU. We will talk about the way the religious life and history of the Danish people still play a central part in the way Danes view themselves. Also, there will be time for all of your questions and issues you want to raise about the subject. Join us for an interesting day of discussion of religion and culture in Denmark. Your guide to the religious life of the Danes will be Marie Vejrup Nielsen, PhD student at the Faculty of Theology at the University of Aarhus.
